Our legal expertise

Banking and Finance

With a department of over 25 lawyers based in Spain, we have one of the most qualified and renowned team of finance lawyers of any law firm in the Spanish market. Few practices can match our top position across the full range of financial products, offering advice under both Spanish and English law. Moreover our team closely works with and is supported by a top-tier global team of over 800 colleagues across our more than 40 offices.

We have been ranked top in every single Thomson Reuters league table for EMEA syndicated loans, since they began producing these tables in 2011. This shows the continued confidence which clients place in us. Allen & Overy has topped the league table for both borrowers and lenders again, having advised in each category on more deals by value and volume than any other law firm in the region. In addition we are ranked in Band 1 for Project Finance. In addition the prestigious legal directory Chambers & Partners ranked our Banking & Finance practice as top tier.

Competition and European Law

Our Antitrust team has extensive knowledge and experience in dealing with the most complex antitrust issues. By combining global reach with local depth, we are uniquely positioned to advise you on your antitrust strategy to achieve consistent, effective solutions throughout your operations.

Our Antitrust team represents clients globally and locally in matters involving compliance and counselling, government investigations and litigation, private actions, merger control, public procurement and competitive tendering, and state aid.

Choosing the right antitrust strategy can have a major impact on your business. Whether it concerns alleged anticompetitive conduct, commercial negotiations and litigation or merger control, antitrust law advice is highly business sensitive.

Corporate and M&A

Our Corporate/M&A team is composed of over 20 lawyers in our Madrid office. Its expertise covers all phases of a transaction whether private or public. We have significant experience in acting on complex, high-value, cross-border work as well as a range of domestic transactions.

Our expertise and local knowledge in the Spanish market ensure that we deliver cost-effective, seamless, high-quality legal advice. Our strong teamwork and wide track record are vital to ensuring that deals are managed effectively.

In addition to our core M&A expertise, we offer a full complement for all the specialist areas that are necessary for a complex M&A transaction, such as antitrust, employment or tax.

“The firm has a good combination of senior partners and more junior people who are knowledgeable and ready right away if you need them to help on complex matters,” reports another client, going on to praise the “accuracy and intensity” of the lawyers' work.

Capital Markets

Our Capital Markets practice in Iberia comprises a group of experienced lawyers capable of advising on the full spectrum of debt and equity related capital markets work under English law and also provides local law advice, either in-house or with leading local law firms.

Our Capital Markets department is part of the Allen & Overy International Capital Markets practice, with some 329 lawyers, including more than 81 partners. This global group is among the largest of any law firm. Few practices can match our top tier position across the full range of financial products – or match our consistency in being ranked in first place by league tables for the volume and the value of our deals. We are known globally for industry-leading ‘first-of-a-kind’ transactions and, as a result, have been instrumental in nearly all of the major developments in the modern financial markets, starting with the first-ever eurobond issue in the 1960s.

The Spain-based team advises underwriters, arrangers, selling shareholders, issuers and rating agencies in connection with the following key areas, among others.

“The firm is very well coordinated in the different jurisdictions, which for me is vital,” states one source, noting: “The relationships between partners in different jurisdictions all work well, which is reflected in the service the firm provides.”

Our experience of mediation, international arbitration and negotiation enables us to pursue all avenues of dispute resolution, helping our clients to choose the method that best suits their needs.

We act for a wide-ranging and diverse client base and have close relationships with, in particular:

- corporates
- financial institutions

- governments and government agencies
- national and international governmental and non-governmental organisations

Clients enthuse: “The speed of response is impressive; the lawyers always take care of us and immediately start working. It is an agile, well-oiled and market-leading team, especially in complex environments.”

Employment

Allen & Overy Spain's Employment Practice stands out for its wide experience and knowledge of employment law, benefits and incentives, providing and developing individualized, overall and creative solutions to any employment issues, both from an individual and collective perspective: top executive employment contracts, negotiation and modification of working conditions, separations, restructurings, HR policies, compliance and investigation procedures, complex litigation, among others.

Our approach is very much that of a partnership, working in collaboration with clients to develop individual and creative solutions to their workplace and benefits needs. We are accessible, pragmatic and hands-on, with expertise in communicating directly with workers, employee representatives and regulatory authorities on HR and reward issues.

Our Employment team is part of the Global Employment & Benefits Group. We are not just there to support you 'on-deal'. A good example of value-added service available to our Employment & Benefits clients is the Employment Restructuring Roadmap, a service that enables you to manage key employment law obligations on a cross-border restructuring. With this tool you can identify, at a glance, the applicable consultation and other procedural requirements, together with related timing and cost implications in 31 countries.

Interviewees commend the firm for “always giving us their utmost attention; they always provide us with the correct answer and the work is impeccable.”

Chambers Europe, 2021 (Spain)

Tax

In the increasingly complex and global area of tax law and practice, our team of tax specialists can successfully support your business needs. Our experience in all aspects of corporate, commercial and finance taxation enables us to provide high-quality, innovative and solution-driven advice.

We offer tax expertise in relation to capital markets transactions and products; general and specialist banking transactions; tax-based structured finance; corporate reorganisations, restructurings and M&A; the structuring of and investment by funds; real estate investment; and the resolution of tax disputes and investigations, whether on a stand-alone basis or as an integral part of a full legal service. We are frequently involved in the first transaction of its kind to be undertaken.

No matter how complex the project or how tight the deadlines, our tax lawyers demonstrate sound commercial awareness and excellent technical skills in everything they do. Through our team of specialists we provide cutting edge expertise in all principal areas of tax advice.

“The team offers total availability and good client service, and is always looking for the option that is most suitable for our business,” says one source.

Chambers Europe, 2021 (Spain)

Real Estate

We advise some of the world's leading organisations on their most important transactions in the real estate sector. Our work encompasses real estate investments, fund formation, structuring and joint ventures, complex real estate mergers and acquisitions, development and planning construction, loan workouts, NPL pool acquisition, distressed debt acquisition (including loan-to-own strategies), structured finance, tax and litigation.

The challenging economic climate is the impetus for clients having an increased appetite for high-quality and imaginative real estate legal advice that places the matter at hand within the context of wider strategic objectives.

Our Real Estate practice offers forward-looking legal solutions on the full range of property-related transactions to some of the most ambitious and perceptive organisations in the world. They know they can count on us for technically accomplished advice and legal solutions that are intelligent, workable and – crucially – that demonstrate our understanding of their business.

“The firm has a great culture and a teamwork-based approach to projects,” says one interviewee, adding: “They offer specialised attention to clients and are experienced, responsive and hard-working.”

Chambers Europe, 2021 (Spain)

Public Law

Our Spain Public Law practice offers expertise and advice on the full range of administrative and regulatory issues. In recent years we have further developed our expertise in key sectors such as infrastructure, utilities (including energy and water), telecommunications, financial markets, and transport.

Regulatory measures, government intervention and public sector spending are omnipresent in today's economic climate. A large variety of public law entities intervene to implement these measures.

Understanding how dealing with public law entities may be different from dealing with private entities and the impact of regulation has always been an important aspect of business life. It is even more important with governments cutting costs, privatising and selling assets, and turning to or away from public-private partnerships, as well as increasing public sector spending in some areas.

“The customer service is excellent and the cohesion as a team is fantastic. I can only say that the lawyers provide an outstanding service,” says another impressed interviewee.
