Allen & Overy’s Korea practice

Building on a long history
– With a long history of advising on many of the largest and most significant transactions in Korea, we set up an office in Seoul in 2015 to build further on 30 years’ experience of operating in the market.
– Much of our work has been focused on helping Korean companies, public and quasi-sovereign bodies and financial institutions navigate the international legal and regulatory environment to do business abroad.
– In addition we have huge experience advising inbound investors into the market.

An on-the-ground presence
– Our presence on the ground in Seoul means we can bring the full weight of our international network and our deep sector expertise to bear for Korean companies, financial institutions and for international investors contemplating making investments in Korea.
– It also means we can provide Korean language support in key areas like projects, capital markets, M&A, arbitration and intellectual property.
– We have deal execution capability on the ground in Seoul – our team in Seoul consists of experienced project finance lawyers, many of them being fluent Korean speakers. In addition to our team on the ground in Seoul, we have a large global team of Korean speaking lawyers to assist clients on projects and other transactions as needed.

Close ties with Korean export credit agencies
– A perfect complement to our strong ties with Korean corporates, a unique selling point of our Korean practice is our extensive experience working with the world’s leading export credit agencies and multi-lateral agencies, and the banks involved in arranging export credit agency-backed financings.
For example, we are regular counsel to The Export-Import Bank of Korea and Korea Trade Insurance Corporation, two of the most active Korean export credit agencies, on many of their financings around the globe.

We are at the forefront of the development of the key sectors and industries globally where Korean corporations are active. In parallel, we have extensive experience of advising international investors on cross-border transactions into Korea.
Our Korea group advises across a broad range of practice areas, including:
– Antitrust
– Arbitration
– Asset finance
– Banking
– Capital markets
– General corporate
– Intellectual property
– M&A
– Project finance
– Restructuring
